From Jo's Desk
--Jo Brew, Branch President

I was really glad to hear our last speaker mention chocolate in a positive way. I wasn't going to give up my Valentine remembrance even if she hadn't. I did make some changes in my cooking after hearing her, particularly in the oils I use. I used coconut oil in my stir fry and it did a good job. The good fresh produce is hard to find this time of year but we try. I put the water suggestion off for awhile. If I drank that much water in a day I would need to stay home at least three or four days in a row and that doesn't happen often. I did resolve to increase my water by an extra glass every day and have managed that--so far anyhow.

Preparation for the conference in April is well underway. I am looking forward to a change in scenery. The last time I was at Garibaldi was at church camp when I was in high school. If I remember right, we did a lot of long walks on the beach. It would be nice if our weather was that good. Looking at the conference schedule, there isn't much time for long beach walks anyhow.

Our girls' basketball is finished for the year after the two last March dates. Watching our group convinced me that this is a worthwhile project and I'm glad it will be continued. The Any Game Day is coming up fast so I hope you're all in high gear and ready to go. I'm trying to decide if chocolate cake will look good on green plates--weighty decisions going on here.

I'm disappointed Brandi Todd wasn't able to be at the meeting to update us on the SPICE program. We could use motivation--we helped four girls last year. It would be great if we could do again. However, Wendy made the point I should have thanked Brandi for not coming sick and exposing us. I will do that.

As I mentioned at our last meeting, I am down to the crunch time with the book I've been working on and find my interest is split as I deal with those new demands. I approached the Board and Carene with the idea of asking her to join me as co-president for the rest of my term and she has agreed. We will plan together but divide responsibilities. I'll be doing board meetings and she'll take over the general meetings, although I'll usually be there.

My daffodils are up and a fruit tree is blooming pink out my window--I'm already beginning to get restless. It's been a milder winter than most but I'm still ready to move on. A dose of warm sunshine would be really good. In a pinch, daffodils will do a lot.

Our Basketball Team Schedule

Only two games remaining--wear your AAUW shirt and cheer for our team!!

Fun with the Readers' Theater Group

--Barb Carter, Chair

Hard to believe the time has gone by so fast! Our Readers' Theater group has started meeting to get ready for our June performance. Each year we select a theme for our performance and gather material that we might use. Brainstorming is so much fun. Some of our talented members write their own material. Not a requirement but fun for the rest of us who are getting to hear their new stuff. Our program is a mix of individual and group pieces.

We are down to six members and would welcome one or two new members. We know you'd love being a part of this group. We have so much fun and we enjoy each other's company. We learn from each other and the topics we select lead to interesting discussions. We consider what we have accomplished as women and what we still need to do. Lighthearted pieces often remind us of the importance of friendships.

So--we'd be glad to welcome new members. Our next three scheduled meetings are at Kappy's at 1:30 on Thursday, March 7, Thursday, March 21, and Thursday, April 4. Please call Barbara Carter at 541-554-2944 if you are interested. We promise that you will have fun.

AAUW PUBLIC POLICY UPDATE MARCH 2013

--Kappy Eaton, Public Policy Chair

STATE OF THE STATE

Economic Issues.

As the state economist indicated, there is both good news and bad news in the latest (March) \ General Fund revenue forecast. In the near term, there will be a $162.3 million ending fund balance on June 30, 2013, an increase from the December 2012 projection. However, the new figures also predict a decline of $74 million for 2013-15, leaving $87 million as the carry-over, just a 1% increase to the $16 billion General Fund for the next two years. The May 16 forecast (June) is the one on which the final biennial adopted budget will be based. There are job increases across most of Oregon, except in the Eastern part of the state, and the construction and housing markets are slowly improving. There is the possibility of a corporate income tax surplus enough to make the kicker active, with legislators looking at ways to defer it since the new statute to put any such money into education doesn't take effect until next year.

The usual growth levels after a recession are not yet here even though the job growth is 2% and housing is up 40-60%. There is a large growth in personal income tax payments from those with above $200,000 incomes expected in April because of federal tax laws, but considerably less is expected in the future. There are also risks to Oregon depending on what happens nationally to programs like Medicaid with possible serious cutbacks, and expansion has weak momentum. Thus things are brighter in the near term, but less so for the next two years and beyond.

National Popular Vote (NPV)

NPV Interstate Compact bills, HB 3077 and SB 624, have been introduced in the Oregon House and Senate (identical). There are 45 (of the 90) legislators who have signed on to the proposal – 32 in the House and 13 in the Senate – representing both political parties. Currently, NPV has been passed by nine states and D.C. with a total of 149 Electoral College votes, out of the 270 needed to elect a U.S. President. Passage is being promoted in six states this year, including Oregon, and hearings have been held in Connecticut and Minnesota. This proposal would ensure that every voter's vote for President across the nation will be counted and every state will be important rather than just a few battle ground ones.

Elections reform

Secretary of State Kate Brown has outlined her election issues priorities to the House and Senate Rules Committees as voter registration, ballot security and campaign finance. Removing barriers to voting and voter registration include changing postage requirements, portable registration, and 16-year- old registration. Ballot security and accountability for ballot procedures and policies (HB 2199), and policies for challenged ballots continue to be critical issues. In campaign finance, there are bills requiring two-day reporting of $1,000 or greater contributions during 14 days prior to an election (HB 2197) and HB 2419 which also includes disclosure on independent campaign communications contributions.

Two bills requiring tighter voter registration regulations regarding citizenship and residency have been filed and probably will face opposition from "good government" groups. There are some more stringent initiative and referendum measures such as requiring chief petitioners to conduct employee background checks and protection for whistle blowers (SB 148), and petition committee formation (SB 145). There will be changes in the overseas military voting (SB149) statute, and requiring all Voter Pamphlet filings to be electronic (SB 147).

Redistricting

No, it's not 2021, but there is a statute and a constitutional resolution to change the way the state's legislative and Congressional districts are reapportioned every 10 years. The Oregon Constitution gives the redistricting authority to the Legislature, with the Secretary of State doing the plan if the Legislature can't agree or the Governor vetoes the plan. HB 2686 outlines the census of persons in the custody of the state and gives those persons to the census number of the community in which they were convicted. The constitutional amendment, HJR 17, repeals the current redistricting language and adds a new section to Article IV that establishes a nine-member independent commission. Members of the commission are selected from a pool of nominees specified by law. The Legislature is not involved with the redistricting process except for the ability to review the plan and comment. There are 10 citizen meetings required and a timeline for completing the plan.

Women's Issues

The Women's Health and Wellness Alliance, of which AAUW is a member, is a broad coalition of organizations and legislators concerned about the welfare of women, children and families. Among the bills we will be monitoring are HB 2779 which authorizes protection of persons subjected to abuse, HB 2672 which establishes workplace protection for domestic workers, HB 5529, Department of Human Services budget, which includes TANF (temporary assistance to needy families), and HB 2903 which ensures safe leave when women are recovering from assault. AAUW is supporting SB 336 which would keep the Earned Income Tax Credit of 6% for poor working families in part of the Governor's budget. Also scheduled for a March 1 hearing is SB 507 which requests this tax credit to be increased to 18% of the federal credit. Whether this proposal will be seriously considered in the current economic climate is uncertain

Higher Education Issues

On February 22, the House Committee on Higher Education and Workforce Development began its discussion of university governance regarding the seven Oregon public universities. HB 2339 concerns the creation of a Portland Metropolitan Universities Board of Directors involving Portland State University (PSU) and the Oregon Health Sciences University (OHSU). The presidents of these institutions were clear in their desire to work cooperatively and in coordination as they have been doing for some time with shared faculty, students and research projects. This discussion led to the consideration of HB 2149, the 96-page document on universities having their own boards of directors. The proposal authorizes the University of Oregon and PSU to create such boards and sets the policy and procedures for setting them up if others desire them. Rep. Michael Dembrow, the committee chair, urged the members to read the bills carefully and to be prepared for amendments and in-depth discussions.

Natural Resources Issues

Of the more than 50 energy bills already introduced, there are 28 dealing with renewable energy. Several modify the requirements for the siting process for larger scale renewable projects and transmission, and will likely be heard in both the House Energy and Environment and House Land Use committees. Other bills seek modification for programs that enable customers to trade renewable energy generated by the customer for energy provided at other times by the utility. Water rights issues and the funding for the Water Resources Department and the Land Use Board of Appeals (LUBA) are critical among the several natural resources discussions being monitored.

Social Policy Issues

The recommendations of the Public Safety Commission are being rigorously considered by the Ways and Means subcommittee on Public Safety as part of their review of the budgets of the Department of Corrections and the Criminal Justice Commission. The Governor's budget calls for holding the current prison population at 14,000 in the 14 prison facilities, and the investment in community corrections to hold the crime rate down. The recommendations include addictions and mental health treatment in the community and increased use of drug courts. There will be gun legislation that prevents the proliferation of gun violence and opposing legislation that seeks to weaken current gun control laws.

AAUW is opposing SB 500 which gives tax credits to private schools and home schooling. SJR 23, a constitutional amendment, would provide public funding for private and religious schools, also opposed by AAUW. In addition, we are in opposition to SB 22 which would require each high school student to have 6 college credits in order to graduate.

THE ONE THING YOU MUST DO:

Urge the House to Pass an Inclusive VAWA Reauthorization

House lawmakers have just introduced a Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) reauthorization that fails to include any meaningful campus safety provisions and does not protect all victims. The House could begin voting on this bill as early as next week, so we need to act now. Tell your representative to urge the House leadership to bring up an inclusive VAWA reauthorization for a vote.

Administration Finalizes List of Benefits Insurance Companies Must Offer

On Wednesday, the Obama administration announced the essential benefits health insurance companies must offer consumers under the Affordable Care Act. In particular, the regulations prohibit discriminatory practices and ensure coverage for maternity and newborn care, preventive services such as contraception, and other health needs. This rule will allow insurance companies and states to move forward on crafting the health insurance exchanges.

School Reforms Not Working, U.S. Panel Declares

A federal commission on Tuesday said the bipartisan education reform agenda pursued in the past 15 years has failed to adequately improve public schools, with the consequences largely affecting low-income and minority students. The commission called on the federal government to take a more active role in public education and argued for increased attention on rigorous teacher training and less emphasis on standardized test scores.

This week we celebrate the 50th anniversary of Betty Friedan’s manifesto, The Feminine Mystique, which exposed the "problem without a name" by launching the second wave of feminism and raising consciousness about women’s inequality.

A Look Back at 2012

Here are a few of the accomplishments that will be included in the branch report to the 2013 state convention--jog your memory and be proud of what we accomplished!

- Celebrated our 100th Anniversary with a program at the Beacon House
- Continued sponsorship of Kidsports middle-school girls’ basketball team.
- Contributed over $300 to provide scholarships for four sixth-grade students to attend the University of Oregon SPICE (Science Program to Inspire Creativity and Excellence) camp in June 2012. Monies were raised by donations to the SPICE jar at branch meetings!
- Celebrated Women in History Month in March by honoring two women for their World War II service.. (Kitty Meredith planned the program and Janice Strupp conducted the interviews.)
- Continued contributing to Lane Community College/Kappy Eaton Scholarship Fund through projects such as Read/Recycle Used Books at Branch meetings and participation in e-Scrip program. At least one student each year has been awarded a scholarship to continue at a four-year university. (Ellen Otani handles all the book sales, and over 20 members participate in e-Scrip.)
- Continued support of Looking Glass teen clients by donations of small toiletries. (Pat Lanier collects and delivers these.)
- Enhanced LAF support with the raffle held at our annual Holiday Brunch.
